Audio Conference Etiquette

ELITE/COMMUNICATION/TRAINEE MANUAL/V 1.0

Before the Call:

- Inform participants of the conference call date, time, and expected duration.
- Let people know that you hope they can join the call promptly but if they are running late, please wait to come on the line in 5 minute increments to avoid interrupting the speaker.
- Provide all printed material to participants in advance.
- Keep the group small. If you have a large group – divide them up for multiple calls, if possible.
- Keep the conference call number and pin handy so you are not scrambling – remind participants to do the same.
- Remind participants to dial in 3-5 minutes early to avoid being late (host should join 5-10 minutes early).
- Use a meeting room/location where it is quiet or where you can close the door to avoid background noises.
- Remind participants that equipment is important – use a land line instead of a cell phone, if possible.
- Remind participants to becoming familiar with muting their phones in prep for the call.
- Determine who will take minutes for the meeting (this should not be the coordinator/moderator).
- Plan for enough time to test the phone equipment before beginning the call.

During the Call:

- Make sure there is a clear moderator, who keeps the call on track and sets ground rules at the beginning of the call.
- Take a roll call if the group is fairly small.
- Begin with the agenda and meeting ground rules.
- Direct questions and comments to specific individuals or locations.

- Encourage participation and keep things moving. Ask Participants to Follow These Ground Rules.
- Mute their phone when not speaking.
- Speak loudly and clearly – using tone to express interest or enthusiasm (without any visual cues, the only thing others have to go by is your voice). Identify them when speaking (name and department/location) to help others understand the context of their comments.
- Address people by name when they are speaking to them.
- Speak one at a time. Two people can't speak at the same time or the conversation is canceled out, typically.
- Pause for others to comment.
- Be sure to refer back to those on the call to ensure they are heard and participating in the meeting.
- No paper shuffling.
- Avoid putting phones on hold (phone systems with music-on-hold will be disruptive).
- Turn off call waiting.
- Pay attention (avoid doing emails or having other side conversations with colleagues).

Include protocol on how participants should notify the coordinator/moderator should they have any challenges with the call (i.e. connection issues, etc. – can they text or email someone

Disclaimer

Tech Mahindra, herein referred to as TechM provide a wide array of presentations and reports, with the contributions of various professionals. These presentations and reports are for informational purposes and private circulation only and do not constitute an offer to buy or sell any securities mentioned therein. They do not purport to be a complete description of the markets conditions or developments referred to in the material. While utmost care has been taken in preparing the above, we claim no responsibility for their accuracy. We shall not be liable for any direct or indirect losses arising from the use thereof and the viewers are requested to use the information contained herein at their own risk. These presentations and reports should not be reproduced, re-circulated, published in any media, website or otherwise, in any form or manner, in part or as a whole, without the express consent in writing of TechM or its subsidiaries. Any unauthorized use, disclosure or public dissemination of information contained herein is prohibited. Unless specifically noted, TechM is not responsible for the content of these presentations and/or the opinions of the presenters. Individual situations and local practices and standards may vary, so viewers and others utilizing information contained within a presentation are free to adopt differing standards and approaches as they see fit. You may not repackage or sell the presentation. Products and names mentioned in materials or presentations are the property of their respective owners and the mention of them does not constitute an endorsement by TechM. Information contained in a presentation hosted or promoted by TechM is provided "as is" without warranty of any kind, either expressed or implied, including any warranty of merchantability or fitness for a particular purpose. TechM assumes no liability or responsibility for the contents of a presentation or the opinions expressed by the presenters. All expressions of opinion are subject to change without notice.

Thank You

Visit us at techmahindra.com